

Online Live Worship Broadcast

For those who cannot share in worship in person, we now offer a live broadcast of our services at 10am every Sunday! You will find the live video of our worship on the church's Facebook and YouTube pages, and that broadcast is saved for any who miss the initial viewing but want to watch it later. To quickly find those pages, you can also look for the labeled buttons at the bottom of every church email. Have any questions? Our office team is happy to walk you through the process any weekday.

Worshipping In Person During Covid-19

To know what is expected of worship attendees and what changes to expect in worship in light of Covid-19, make sure to read our reopening transition letter, which was mailed out weeks ago and can always be found on our website under "News & Events". In brief, we require everyone who comes to our church to wear a facemask and practice social distancing as recommended by public health experts, such as washing your hands regularly, keeping six feet apart from members of other households, and avoiding physical contact with others. We have pre-marked the pews to indicate proper distancing between seating sections.

Organ & Piano Music During Covid-19

Due to preexisting health conditions and on advice of her doctor, our organist is no longer able to provide live music for indoor worship services until the pandemic is under better control. Katherine will instead record music for us to enjoy during the service itself so that we may still enjoy sounds of praise.

Changes to Prayer Requests & Concerns

The prayer concerns list in our Pews News was not updated for some time and so has been cleared out. But if someone's prayer concern should still be on this list or if you have someone you would like our church to pray for, please let the office staff know. Additionally, we sadly must suspend the prayer request time in our Sunday services for two reasons. Because worship is shared online, we want to protect the privacy of those we pray for so their needs are not displayed across the world. Further, shouting out prayer requests out indoors as we used to do greatly raises the odds of spreading covid-19. Instead, if you have a joy or concern you wish prayer for, please contact the church so we can put the request into our announcements and Pews News.
